

HCSO has renewed its STADAT table system

Our summary table collection (STADAT) has been renewed on 6 April 2021.

Main changes are summarized for easier navigation

Why is renewal needed?

In recent years, user surveys have revealed what problems our users face when using our spreadsheet products and what they want in terms of usability and content. Therefore, we have thoroughly reviewed our STADAT table collection in terms of content, structure and functionality.

What has changed?

4-level table of contents

Level 1 - indicates a topic

Level 2 - indicates period: annual / mid-year,

Level 3 - indicates territorial level: national / international / regional,

Level 4 - table number.

After selecting each topic, you can search the tables and choose from the following filtering options:

- periods (annual and mid-year),
- territorial levels (national, regional, international),
- and status (active, archive) filtering.

What has changed?

- Mobile friendly display,
- larger font size,
- barrier-free design (support for reading software and other accessibility features),
- full screen interface,
- footnotes and legends displayed below each table,
- one table - one HTML page, horizontal scrolling option for larger tables with fixed table header and page.

What has changed?

- Instead of previous icons click on the Menu next to the tables to access all relevant information (methodology) and links to related publications (STADAT tables, Dissemination database, publications, data visualizations),
- files downloadable in open source (XLSX instead of XLS) format
- tables downloadable in CSV format
- the legend (e.g. what does the colouring of the numbers mean),
- files downloadable with unmerged headers

What has changed?

- A website thematically grouped by topics; new topics (time balance, sports),
- more complex STADAT content containing main summary statistics
- summary tables including key indicators by topic
- harmonized content for mid-year, annual and regional tables,
- clarity and uniformity during editing.

Will the previous STADAT remain available?

- No longer will the old STADAT interface be updated as of April 6, 2021.
- Some non-updatable tables appear among the archived tables (filter option).
- The new system uses translation keys to help you navigate between the old and the new system. The translation keys can be found next to the tables.

Your feedback is welcome!

We hope you enjoy the new STADAT.

After viewing the selected tables, please click on the "Was this content helpful?" button at the bottom of the page, and evaluate the usefulness and interpretability of the data, and make suggestions for improving the system!

We wish you a good browsing!
